B. P. O. ELKS HOLD ANNUAL DISTRICT MEETING IN COLEMAN

The annual district meeting of the B.P.O. Elks, District number two, was held in the Coleman Elks hall recently. There were 175 members present from Stovely, Granum, Blairmore, Fort Macleod, Fernie and Coleman.

Exalted Ruler Brother H. Zak, Jr., opened the regular meeting of the Coleman Lodge. Exalted Ruler Lloyd Sherman of the Granum Lodge then presented Brother Zak with the travelling gavel for which he very ably thanked him.

Exalted Ruler Zak then turned the gavel over to District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Brother Joseph Wavrean, who supervised the district meeting. He appointed Brother J. M. Rushton as secretary.

The Exalted Rulers of the respective lodges were then called on to count their members present and give a report on lodge activities during the past year. Then Brother Zak welcomed and thanked all the members for being present.

Then D.D.G.E.R. Wavrean gave his report on the numerous visits that he had made and noted that Elkdom is on the increase in the district despite the conditions that exist in the Crows Nest Pass. This shows that every Elk is taking a greater interest in this fraternal organization to make life easier, men better and the world happier by practising Justice, Charity, Brotherly Love and Fidelity.

The support of the Purple Cross

Fund he also urged. This fund is for the purpose of giving medical aid to any child 16 years and under anywhere in Canada regardless if their parents are Elk members or not.

The co-operation I have received from the lodge was wonderful, he stated, and I was well received and honored on all my visits.

Congratulating some of the wonderful patrol teams of the different lodges where they too are taking a great interest and working harder for Elkdom.

Brother Roy Ursal of Fernie was nominated and duly elected by acclamation as the District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for the ensuing year for Alberta District No. 2.

Exalted Ruler H. Zak, Jr., then presented retiring D.D.G.E.R. Joseph Wavrean with his jewel of office for the good work he had done while in his capacity as D.D.G.E.R.

The gavel was then turned over to Brother Zak for the conclusion of the meeting.

A splendid lunch and midnight supper was served by the refreshment committee.

True Stories From the Files of The Salvation Army

EVICTON PROVIDES FRIENDS

The rain deluged the dark city street. A woman holding a five-day old baby, stood with her husband and five other children under the protective canopy of a newspaper office in downtown Toronto. The family had just been evicted and were standing helplessly on the street, their furniture piled on the sidewalk in front of their former residence, not too far away.

It was just before Christmas and the Major at The Salvation Army Welfare office was working late. A friendly telephone call informed him of the family's plight. Within minutes he had found the rain-soaked group and had them seated in the station wagon.

Temporary accommodation was found in two furnished rooms. It was of great satisfaction to see the young family — all children were under seven years of age — comfortably settled, their clothing hung up around the room to dry, and all partaking of the very ample meal.

A few days later they were given a hearty Christmas dinner, and the children had sufficient toys and clothing to make their Christmas one of the happiest in years — in spite of eviction troubles.

"A HAPPY FAMILY REFUSION"

This could well have been a "Ripley Story" under the heading "Believe It or Not".

Twelve-year-old Pete, a small, frail lad, was discovered quite by accident during a routine visit of a Salvation Army Officer to "The Jungles" — that area of any large city inhabited by homeless and destitute men, who erect huts as a shelter from the penetrating cold and freezing wind.

Pete had been a "jungle boarder" for about 10 days and had found living as a "knight of the road" a bewildering experience. "The long cold nights," he told the Captain, "were the hardest". His constant hunger made him think of home and comforts he had left. Then he would recall the family quarrel and his decision to leave and make his own way.

It took several days to win Pete's confidence — but finally the bedraggled lad — cold, hungry and dirty, accompanied the Salvationist to the Harbor Light where he received a hot bath, warm clothing and lots of good food.

The happy climax — two grateful parents and a trembling boy locked in speechless embrace in the Captain's office. It was a joyful family reunion.

Sales of Canada Savings Bonds in 1957 were up 27 per cent over 1956 to $1,109,421,000.

Jackpot $150 at Next Elks Bingo

No one took the $140 jackpot at the Elks regular bingo on Friday evening.

Although a capacity crowd was on hand no one was lucky enough. This makes the total at the next bingo on May 16 will be $150, to be won in 59 numbers.

Mrs. J. Helisch was the lucky winner of the $10 consolation jackpot. Other lucky winners for the evening were:

Gas, Mrs. J. Atkinson.
Lawn mower, Mrs. A. Montalbetti.
Groceries, split by M. Clarke and R. Curry.

Tri-light lamp, Mrs. J. Krywolt.
$25, split by Mrs. W. Anderson, and Mrs. H. Gagner.

Six number bingo, $108 cash — no winner. This makes the prize for this bingo $114 at the next bingo.

Kitchen chrome suite, Mrs. Stewart of Blairmore.

Groceries, split by Mrs. J. Wavrean, R. Gingsaras, Bellevue; Mrs. A. Krywolt and Mrs. M. Cornett.

Dishes, T. Collister.
$50 merchandise, no winner.

Scatter rug, Mrs. R. Battle, of Blairmore.

Hostess chair, W. Weaver, of Bellevue.

Sheets and pillow cases, Mrs. K. Woolley, Bellevue.

Consolation winners were Mrs. R. Gingsaras and H. Neddo.

Phones Sister In Germany

Mrs. Mae Pilford of Hillcrest, a former teacher at Taber, who is now teaching school in Zweibrücken, Germany, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday morning when her sister, Mrs. Irene Coover of Coleman, phoned her to wish her many happy returns on her birthday.

Mrs. Coover stated that the conversation was faint but audible. The call was two hours late and Mrs. Pilford finally obtained it 1:30 a.m. in Coleman and 9:30 a.m. in Germany.

Mrs. Coover said that her sister was teaching school at the time of the call and had to be called from class to take it.

Mrs. Pilford is teaching Canadian children whose parents are serving with the RCAF.

Report From Progressive Temple

At our Grand Sessions in March Sister Mary Kosma was elected Grand Guard, and Sister Evelyn Hopkins was appointed D.D.G.C. of District No. 3.

Sisters, we are proud of you. We are sorry to report the passing of Sister Jane Barclay.

Plan of Action Taken By Industrial Board

Twenty-two Crows Nest Pass businessmen and interested persons met with Dr. Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P., in the 'Pass Hotel Thursday evening for the purpose of forming an Industrial Planning Board.

Purpose of the board is to investigate various types of industry that could suitably be located in this Crows Nest Pass area. Its function will be to explore various possible industries, study all phases of the industry, iron out all detail work, then present the idea to Dr. Kindt, who would attempt to bring the chosen industry to the area.

Members of the board are, chairman, Jim Montalbetti of Coleman; Dr. L. E. Kindt and secretary, Roy Upton of Coleman; representatives Mayor William Gray of Blairmore; Jim Kerr of Sentinel, Alex Grant of Hillcrest, Les Cousins of Bellevue and Mayor Frank Abousafy of Coleman.

Two other districts, Frank and Harris were not represented at the meeting, but it was suggested that Mayor Frank Vejprava or John Kerr be contacted to represent the village of Frank and C. Vanwyk be contacted to represent Harris. Walter Oakley was appointed to represent Lundbreck.

The main item discussed by the board was the export of gas to the United States through the port of Kingsgate, which, if allowed by the federal government, would immediately ensure the construction of a sulphur plant at Sentinel just west of Coleman.

In bringing this matter to the attention of the meeting, Mayor Abousafy stated that although coal has been the biggest employment factor in the area it is at present at a stalemate and although he was sure it would come back, he felt that if the Crows Nest Pass area is to flourish economically the only thing within its grasp is the construction of the sulphur plant at Sentinel.

He indicated that this is the key which would unlock the door for many other industries establishing in the area. Not only would it almost immediately solve the unemployment problem but it would also tide the area over until other industry could be established.

During the discussion on the export of gas, it was pointed out that the Borden commission may recommend the export of gas through Emerson.

It was stated that the U.S. does not want gas exported through Emerson, but favors export through Kingsgate.

Should the commission allow the export through Emerson, the meeting wanted Dr. Kindt to find out why and suggested that action be taken to allow gas to be exported through more than one channel. It was indicated that if the pipeline were built through here, and source of gas ran low 30 years from now gas could be produced from coal and sent via the pipeline.

Employment Aid
Mayor Abousafy said that although erection of such a sulphur plant would not be a complete solution to the unemployment situation in the area it would be a step in the right direction. He felt that if permission were granted to export gas footings for the sulphur plant could be commenced this fall, and would entail some two years active construction work on the $8 to $10 million plant.

The possibility of exporting thermal power across to the Pacific Northwestern States, was brought up and it was disclosed that if permission could be obtained to export thermal power there is a possibility that a power plant west of the Pass might be modernized and put into action. This matter is being investigated.

The matter of selling coking coal to Geneva Steel in the States was also brought up and it was disclosed that arrangements were being made for this, but at the present time production of steel was practically cut in two to what it's year's production was.

Coal for Japan was also mentioned and it was shown that the production of steel there too was cut down to half of maximum production.

BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

The regular meeting of the Board of Trade held last week, had a light agenda outside of discussing various aspects of the forthcoming Rodeo. Turnout of members was quite gratifying as 26 members were present.

Reports on various projects were read. On the proposed road from West of Coleman down to Waterton Park as requested by the Board, received no encouragement from the Federal government.

On the proposed erection of two signs to be erected on No. 3 highway through town, was referred back to the committee, as the places of erection were not in accordance with the by-laws of Coleman.

President Dave Young reported that due to the brief presented with regards to the beating of the new post office, the Postal Department has conceded to switch to coal instead of oil.

The new picnic tables erected in the town park are to be painted in bright colors.

A request from Lethbridge, TV station for a local man to cover the news here was read and the matter was left in the hands of a two-man committee.

Under Rodeo business considerable discussion took place as to whether the Rodeo should be staged. Numerous suggestions have been put forward to make the Rodeo much better.

These matters are to be discussed and considered at the Wednesday, May 7 meeting. We will carry full details in next issue.

The board instructed the secretary to send pictures of the Coleman Grands as they were photographed after the winning of the A - B.C. - M. championship, to all players participating.

The appointment of William Holik as vice-chairman of the Rodeo committee was approved. T. Collier was appointed treasurer.

Mrs. Holyk to Stage Dance Revue

Spring is officially here we feel when we see once again that Mrs. J. Holyk is once again staging her annual Dance Revue, to be held in the High School auditorium on May 9 and 10.

This annual event, sponsored by the Coleman Elks Lodge, never fails to impress us with the talent shown by the youngsters into which many hours of effort, both by teacher Mrs. Holyk and pupils, is really appreciated both by food parents and others attending.

The wonderful costumes we have seen in past revues will have to be really something in this one as usually one or two new versions turn up in each revue.

Well, if you wish two nights of good entertainment into which much effort and work are put, we urge you to attend the Dance Revue this week-end.

Clean-up Drive Starts

The annual town clean-up started this week. The dates set for this event are May 5 to 17, and it is hoped that everyone will co-operate and try to make our town a better place to live in.

The town will co-operate and haul away all garbage and refuse from yards. Pack it carefully in boxes if possible to make it easier for your clean-up men.

If everyone gets busy in cleaning up and sprucing up it will show everyone that we are not giving up and our spirits are high, even if our pocketbooks are low.

So come on, everyone, make the next two weeks a real work week and then we can relax confident in the belief that our town is just as good, if not better, than any other.

Ladies' Golf Club Names Executive, Blairmore

Mrs. Anne Raymond was elected president at a meeting of the ladies' section of the Crows Nest Pass Golf and Country Club, held at the home of Mrs. H. Pinkney on Tuesday, April 29th.

Mrs. P. Purvis was elected captain with Mrs. A. Ferstay vice-captain. Mrs. H. Upton was elected as secretary-treasurer, and committees are as follows:

Entertainment — Mrs. M. Moorehouse, Mrs. Y. Gillies.

Handicap — Mrs. L. Huntley and Mrs. H. Pinkney.

Plans were made for the coming golfing season. Date of the official opening of the course will be announced later.

Former Coleman Resident Passed Away

Word has been received as we go to press of the death of John Salvador aged 66 years at Creston this (Wed.) evening. Further particulars in our next issue.

Recital Will Benefit Church Building Fund

Frances Dibble, A.I.C.T. mezzo-soprano, four-times winner of the Starchip's Cup at Alberta Musical Festivals and winner of many top awards in festival and scholarships to Banff School of Fine Arts, will present a recital at 8 p.m. Monday, in the Aladore Baptist church, 16th St. and 42nd Ave. S.W. Proceeds will be used to augment the church building fund.

Miss Dibble has studied in Calgary and Toronto, and has given recitals in Calgary, Lethbridge, Drumheller, Coleman and in the Maritimes.

She has appeared as soloist with the Calgary Choral-Orchestra Association; has been guest artist with the Calgary Musical Club and by request appeared on television in Boston, Mass.

A regular soloist at Central United Church, Miss Dibble has played leading roles in Menotti's "Old Maid and the Thief" and "Hansel and Gretel" at the Banff School.

She has a special fondness for older which she and Grace Thompson perform as a team.

The program includes one group of leaders, some Handel, Dvorak, modern English and folk songs.

The artist will be accompanied by Mrs. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Webber, of Calgary. She studied with the late Ethel Archibut Cook in Calgary and McCra Symons of London, England.

Grace Thompson has done much accompanying in Vancouver and Calgary and is choir director at Aladore Baptist Church.

(Miss Dibble is the daughter of Mr. W. Dibble and the late Mrs. Dibble of Coleman. She was educated in Coleman schools.)

Coleman Resident Passes

Another old time Coleman resident has passed away in the person of Mrs. Doris Elashchuk, 56, who died in the Crows Nest Pass Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Taporiti, Bokavania, Ukraine, she came to Canada in 1921, settling in Coleman, where she has resided since.

She is survived by her husband, George.

Funeral services were conducted from Holy Ghost Catholic Church with the Rev. Father D. Flemming officiating. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

St. Alban's Church Whist Drive

The third Whist Drive of St. Alban's Church in the current series will be held in the Elks hall, Coleman, at 8 p.m. on Monday, May 12.

This popular Drive will again present 12 good prizes along with good food and friendliness.

Your attendance will be much appreciated and we promise you an evening of fun and sociability.

Oil refinery engineers and chemists use everything from teapots to trained microbes to help them combat air and water pollution. Here Marilyn Dougherty pours while Imperial Oil senior chemist Bob Fern tastes tea made from river water. The tea magnifies the taste of any unpleasant elements in the water, helps the chemists to identify and eliminate them. Imperial Oil is spending about a million dollars a year to combat pollution around its refineries.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

$5,000 a Year

The average worker at the steel company in Hamilton makes about $5,000 a year. Wage rates now run at about $2.56 per hour worked. This is much more than workers in other manufacturing plants get; and I'd guess that many farmers and storekeepers—even though they've big investments in land or property—would be happy to wind up a year with a cash profit so high.

So it would seem that the appeal now being made by the steel company to the union to hold the line on wage demands this year would win the sympathy of most observers. It is to be hoped the union gives the appeal plenty of consideration.

This is not a good year to make big demands. The union at Hamilton has asked the steel company for bigger wage increases than ever; but it is hoped they'll reconsider in the light of the present unstable situation in our economy—and in other countries.

Customers of the steel company already have trouble paying for high-priced steel.

Some of them are operating at only 50 per cent of capacity. Other countries won't pay our high prices for steel. They can get it cheaper elsewhere.

True, workers at the steel company want more money, and that is human enough. No one can be told that his wage is fixed and can go no higher. But they are only being asked to hold the line for one year. Surely that is not too much of a hardship.

If they refuse, and if the steel company knuckles under, and pays the additional demands (an extra 66½ cents per hour worked), the price of everything containing steel will surely go up. Some plants will close down. Unemployment will increase.

On the other hand, if they accept, they'll give a boost to business, and they'll win the approval of consumers everywhere—consumers whose patience with union demands has been wearing thin lately.

Unions, as a matter of fact, have reached the stage where they are bound to act with a great deal more caution and responsibility or they are going to lose the loyalty of the rank-and-file worker. Some unions have already lost quite a bit of that loyalty. Others are in danger of losing it. If the process is not halted, the power and prestige of the union movement are slated for a rapid downward skid.

The Canadian public has proved more than once that it can quickly dethrone anyone who abuses power.

Teaching Force Being Investigated

Alberta's Royal Commission on Education has undertaken three major research projects in connection with its enquiry into the aims and objectives of education in the province.

The Commission is investigating the composition of the teaching force of Alberta, the quality of pupil personnel in the province's high schools, and the economic and sociological structure of Alberta, with special reference to education.

The teaching force study is being carried out to determine what effect teacher shortages, increased enrolments, emergency training programs and other factors has had on the quality of personnel currently staffing Alberta schools. A factual description of this nature is not available at the present time.

Detailed questionnaires are being sent out to some 10,000 teachers. A questionnaire covers such pertinent points as present teaching position, teacher certification, formal academic and professional preparations, relationship between position and preparation for certain subjects, teaching experience and personal history.

The second major research program, dealing with pupils, is designed to reveal the quality of Alberta high school students. Any specific group may be chosen for this study as, for example, the complete grade nine classes of 1953.

The investigating committee will probe the types of school attended and the effect of the type of school on the pupil's grades, achievements at various stages of the school year and a follow-up study of achievements of "bright" and other students. The program will attempt also to determine, in terms of I.Q., finding types of students successful in given programs in various types of schools; whether teacher ratings are valid predictors of success, and whether the quality of teachers affects pupil achievement.

Both the teacher and pupil studies will be analyzed rapidly with the aid of electronic computing machines. Machine analysis taking but a few minutes would ordinarily take a research worker several weeks to complete.

The study of the economic and sociological structure of Alberta is designed to develop and maintain an education system with regard to changes in population, productivity, occupations and trends in expenditures and revenues on all government levels as well as personal income.

In addition the Commission is making a comparison of comprehensive high schools throughout the world and also of curricula or school programs.

The six members of the Commission, headed by Senator Donald Cameron, hope to present a report on the comprehensive study on education to the next session of the Alberta legislature.

the understanding heart and the human touch

Food, clothing, shelter . . . yes. But it takes more than these to lift the burden from despairing souls.

This The Salvation Army knows. In its hostels, havens, homes and hospitals; in instances of emergency relief; the understanding heart and the human touch are ceaselessly employed in mending shattered lives and kindling hope in spirits darkened by sin or suffering.

That this work may never flag, YOUR support is needed by faithful workers of The Salvation Army dedicated to these tasks of mercy.

May Campaign Aimed at Unsafe Vehicles

OTTAWA, Ont. — Highway accidents and deaths caused by unsafe vehicles will be the target of a national campaign to be sponsored throughout Canada during May by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference.

The drive, called 'Check Your Car. Check Your Driving. Check Accidents', will have the active support of automobile dealers, service stations and garage operators, and all users of the highway, including truck and bus companies.

It will coincide with a similar effort in the United States. The conference, through the provincial and community safety organizations and industry in general, is stressing 10 vital safety checks.

They are—brakes, front lights, rear lights, steering, tires, exhaust system, the windshield wipers, glass, rear-view mirrors and horn. Defects in any of those items, warns the conference's general manager, W. Arch. Bryce, can result in disaster.

Their importance to the operation of a vehicle is seldom appreciated, according to Mr. Bryce, until they become defective.

Motorists are being urged to envisage the predicament in to which they would be thrust should such defects occur in their vehicles, and to take immediate steps to prevent such a predicament before it happens.

"Every vehicle using Canada's roads and streets is nothing more than an inanimate machine, unable to cope with an emergency, but always able to create one. Drivers should at all times feel safe and secure in the knowledge that their vehicles have been given a thorough safety check and every evidence of impending defect corrected," Mr. Bryce said.

Police forces across Canada—civil, provincial and federal—are also working to promote the May campaign. Special attention will be given by traffic enforcement officers to unsafe vehicles in this national effort to safeguard the lives of millions of Canadians using the highways.

Public Welfare Act Changes

Past cost of maintenance of children who become wards of the government will be assumed by the Provincial Department of Public Welfare as a result of amendments to the Child Welfare Act passed at the recent session of the Alberta legislature.

Previously, costs were shared by both municipalities and government, with the municipality paying 40 per cent. Annual saving to Alberta's municipalities is estimated at $674,000.

Municipalities retain the responsibility of investigating all cases of neglected children. In the event a child is removed from the custody of his parents, departmental welfare workers will assist in an endeavor to rehabilitate families in order that their children may be returned to their care. Where all efforts fail, steps will be taken to secure the children's future by placing them in selected families, with a view to adoption.

Counseling services have been extended to unmarried expectant mothers. Advice and assistance is provided in all cases whether the mother wishes to raise the child, or surrender it for adoption.

Eighty per cent of the cost of maintaining Alberta residents who find themselves in need will be borne by the Provincial Department of Public Welfare as a result of amendments to the Public Welfare Act during the recent session of the Alberta legislature.

The grant paid to municipalities has been increased by 20 per cent and will amount to approximately $325,000.

Right of the provincial government to recover any moneys expended on behalf of such persons was redefined.

Rehabilitation program restoring disabled persons to their maximum physical, mental, vocational and economic usefulness will be expanded by the department's Rehabilitation Branch.

Fingerprints Can Be Removed By Surgical Technique

Fingerprints, always considered to be permanent and unalterable, can be completely removed by the surgical technique of skin planing, according to a report from the American Medical Association, received at the Health League of Canada.

Two studies have been made recently on this subject. In the first one by Dr. James W. Burke, Jr., of the Tulane University School of Medicine, division of dermatology, he said that his preliminary report has important legal implications because the possible removal of fingerprints makes positive identification by this means uncertain.

He treated two men with arsenic-caused heavy growth on the hands by planing the skin with a high speed electric wire brush. At the same time he planned a finger of each man, removing the epidermis and the upper part of the dermal layer. Skin planing is often used to remove scars from acne or smallpox.

Weeks after planing, the fingers were smooth, slightly pinker, and without visible ridges. A hand lens showed the normal arrangements of whorls to be replaced by minute thin, criss-crossed and parallel lines similar to those on the back surface of the web between the thumb and index finger.

Dr. Burke warned dermatologists that they must guard against treating criminals who seek to have their fingerprints removed. He added, however, that criminals who have this means of identification altered may still be recognized through "other equally satisfactory means." In fact, the "very absence" of ridge patterns on fingers could reflect an attempt to conceal identity. Dermatologists can help law enforcement officers in determining the medical reasons for a person having planned fingers, he said.

The second report researched by two Detroit physicians, Drs. Harold Plotnick and Hermann Pinkus, reveals an experiment on the similarity of epidermal and dermal fingerprints. Using recently amputated fingers, they first took prints of the epidermis. They then removed the epidermis and took prints of the dermis (also called the corium or 'true skin').

The two prints were identical except that the ridges of the dermal print appeared split or double, as well as finer than those of the epidermis. The dermal print is just as effective for identification purposes," they said.

Their study resulted from an actual case in Boston in which Dr. Pinkus was asked by the police to explain the difference between epidermal and dermal fingerprints.

The police had found the body of a man and suspected that he had been murdered by his wife and dumped into the water. All the skin had come off the fingers, but prints were taken from the denuded dermal surfaces. It was up to the police to convince the jury of the identity of these prints with ordinary prints on file.

"They built up a nice case with the information, but the wife confessed just before the trial opened, so all the effort had been for naught," the doctors said.

It did, however, lead to the study proving the validity of dermal prints as a means of identification.

Drugs And Drivers Not Good Mixers

Drugs and drivers of motor vehicles don't mix, according to an article on the subject by Dr. G. H. W. Lucas, Professor of Pharmacology of the University of Toronto, appearing in the current issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

"Most of the drugs used are either ones which stimulate the brain or produce sedation. The former remove fatigue and enable the driver to continue driving when practically he is really too tired to do so," states the article.

Benadryne and products closely allied chemically are the ones employed. A temporary increase in efficiency, confidence, alertness and initiative may be experienced, but in more advanced states there may be elation of mood, enhanced speech activity, decreased ability to concentrate, heightened irritability and sleeplessness. There may be an increased desire, rather than an increased ability, to do mental work.

Caffeine has a similar effect, but not so dramatic when ingested as coffee or tea. It is employed to combat fatigue.

When the driver is flirting with fatigue it is much safer to take a cat nap and then drive, than under the influence of a drug, to push a fatigued brain and muscles far beyond their psychological limit.

The sedative drugs and those used to produce sleep—mobarbital, amobarbital, which are called barbiturates by the chemist, are employed to decrease sleeplessness and to quiet the nerves.

Recent experiments show that while the early effects may be sedative and decrease jitteriness, a change in attitude may occur about 16 hours after ingestion of the drug. This is manifested by an increased hostility, especially with alcohol. Psychologists say that it reduces "aggression anxiety" and thereby makes the subject prone to do hostile things. Under secondhand in large doses, drivers are said to become reckless.

The hypnotic drugs are sometimes ingested along with alcohol. This combination is extremely dangerous for a motor vehicle operator, because the mental depression caused by the two drugs combined is much greater than that produced by large doses of either.

Baseball for 1958 Under way

Another baseball season is under way and like most things, baseball has undergone some radical changes in the last 25 years.

A quarter of a century ago the Braves were in Boston instead of Milwaukee, the Athletics in Philadelphia instead of Kansas City, the Dodgers in Brooklyn instead of Los Angeles, and the Giants in New York instead of San Francisco. The Orioles of Baltimore were then the Browns of St. Louis.

Washington Senators, who have not finished in the first division in more than 10 years, won the American League pennant in 1933 with shortstop-manager Joe Cronin leading their drive. Another player-manager, Bill Terry, directed the Giants to the National League title that year and then guided his club to the world series championship.

Rube Ruth was drawing to the close of his fabulous career in 1933. Lou Gehrig was to set a major league consecutive game record that season and Jimmy Fox swept the triple crown of batting and the American League's most valuable player award. Chuck Klein, who died recently, won the National League batting crown. Among other idols of that year were Lefty Grove, Dizzy Dean, Al Simmons, Lefty Gomez, Carl Hubbell, Paul Waner, Lou Warnerke, Pepper Martin and Mel Ott.

Today the fans cheer Ted Williams and Stan Musial, who were teen-agers dreaming of the big leagues in 1933—or Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays, who were mere infants—or Hank Aaron, who wasn't born then.

Quebec obliges P.M. Diefenbaker

During the recent election campaign Mr. Diefenbaker asked Quebec voters to "embarass" him by electing a large number of possible cabinet ministers. They gave him 50 Progressive Conservative M.P.s.

Altogether the Progressive Conservative total of 20g seats included clean sweeps in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Alberta. It is the largest number of seats held by any party in Canadian parliamentary history. At dissolution they had 113.

The Liberal party was heavily defeated as its strength dropped from 106 to 49. The CCF party's strength was slashed from 25 to eight. The Social Credit party was eliminated from Parliament.

The Liberals lost former agriculture minister James G. Gardiner, who sat for Melville, Sask.; from 1935 on; former fisheries minister James Sinclair in Coast-Capitol B.C. and former transport minister George Marler, of Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount.

The CCF lost two of Canada's best recognized parliamentarians—party leader J. J. Goldwell and deputy leader Stanley Knowles. Commons leadership of the party likely will be taken over by Hazen Argue, Assiniboia, Sask., the only opposition member from the three Prairie provinces.

Social Credit leader Solon Low and his entire group, including veterans John Blackmore, Lethbridge, Alberta, and Rev. E. G. Hansell of Macleod, Alberta, and C. E. Johnston, Bow River, Alberta, were defeated.

Guinea pig for home TV

Mrs. Margaret Barlow of Montreal sometimes doesn't even bother to remove her kitchen apron before stepping in front of a TV camera. That's because her husband, Michael, is an amateur TV enthusiast and he often calls on her as a subject to try out his home-built equipment.

Mr. Barlow, a TV salesman, and five other men formed a branch of the British Amateur Television club. They spend their evenings building equipment and transmitting patterns on a closed circuit.

Historic Reminders

Too often, ventures progressing at the pace many in the Peace have done tend to neglect the concrete reminders of their past in favor of concern with the future. . . . If we neglect these reminders of our past, we are forgetting the foundation they laid for us in opening up a rich corner of Canada—The Grande Prairie (Alta.) Herald-Tribune.

when the peddler selling printing supplies solicits your business, there are a few questions which he should be willing to answer to your satisfaction:

1. Does he pay taxes in this community?
2. Can he supply your order on short notice?
3. Does he donate space in the newspaper to your local community enterprises?
4. Does he pay wages to a force of employees located in Coleman?
5. Does his newspaper donate its space toward the betterment and upbuilding of this community?
6. Does he grant you every favor that you would ordinarily ask your local newspaper?
7. Does the quality of his merchandise stand inspection?
8. Does his price include sales tax, postage and insurance charges?

If he can answer ALL the above questions in the affirmative, he has an equal right to your business.

Letter To The Editor

Crescent Valley, B.C.,
April 25, 1968.

Hello Tom:

We are sending an order for our subscription. I notice it is not quite as big as it used to be, but we would sure miss it if it quit coming.

Yours,
Herb Sherratt.

And goes and hollers down a well
Is not as apt to collar dollars
As the man who climbs a tree and hollers.
